Looking at the News With Col. Hugh Clark

A GENEVA journal, censuring British for not stopping this war at the start, says one roar from the lion then would have done the trick. If that was all that was necessary, it seems highly imprudent to maintain so large a menagerie at Geneva.

One hundred years ago, an aspiring young author named Carlyle was trying to sell a book called "Sartor Resartus." Times were bad. Washington Irving had lost on his last venture. Alan Cunningham said it was folly to try to sell anything under such conditions. Blackwoods had never experienced such times. Constable was in the dumps. But they all pulled through with their books and their publishing businesses, made money and achieved fame. When anyone today says the conditions are unprecedented, tell him to read history or write a worthwhile book or make a better mouse trap, or something. We have had worse times within the memory of men now living, and not very old at that.

Good Friday Music St. Aldhelm's Church

A capacity congregation attended the service of Passion Music on Good Friday evening in the Anglican Church. Many were unable to gain entrance. The service consisted of solos, duets, quartets and choruses from Steiner's Crucifixion and Handel's Messiah. Considering that this was only the second time that the choir has sung to a large congregation, a very creditable performance was given. The choir has been doing good work all along and shows promise of greater things for the future.

Burk from their two sons in Peace River country where they motored last summer, took up home-steads and built a cabin and are remaining there during the winter months to trap and hunt, told that they are spending the winter successfully, finding no hardships in supplying themselves with sufficient wild meat. At the time of writing, they had just succeeded in killing a huge buck.

LEGISLATURES HIT MOTORISTS

Five Increase Motor Licenses; One Raises Drivers' Fees

Legislatures of two provinces in Canada this year increased their taxes on gasoline, five increased the fees for automobile licenses and one increased the price of drivers' permits.

New Brunswick raised the gas tax; raised motor license fees to 90 cents a cwt., and doubled drivers' licenses to $2.00.

Quebec raised the gas tax one cent bringing it to 6 cents a gallon, left license fee at 70 cents a cwt., and driver's permit at $6.00.

Ontario raised the gas tax one cent, and it is now 6 cents. Motor license fees this year are from $7 to $30 with driver's permits unchanged.

In Alberta automobile license fees were increased five dollars and now range from $15 to $45, depending on the size of the vehicle. The gasoline tax remained at five cents a gallon and driver's licenses were unchanged at 50 cents.

Saskatchewan increased automobile licenses $5 to make them range from $17.50 to $32.50 but left the gasoline tax at five cents a gallon and the driver's permit fee at 50 cents.

Various fees and taxes in other provinces are:

Prince Edward Island, 5 cents gas tax; 70 cents cwt., auto license; $1 driver's permit.

Nova Scotia, 5 cents gas tax; 90 cents cwt. auto license; $1 driver's permit.

Manitoba, 5 cents gas tax; $11.50 to $20 auto license; $1 driver's permit.

British Columbia 5 cents gas tax; $17 to $45 auto license; $1 driver's permit.

On Thursday last, before an appreciative audience, the band, under the leadership of Mr. R. H. Weale, rendered another of their famous concerts, on this occasion being assisted by the Vulcan Glee Club, rendering in a noticeably improved style the following items: "The Sailors' Chorus," "Off in the Stilly Night," "Old Black Joe," "To Arms," and "Swing Low Sweet Chariot."

The vocalists for the evening were Mrs. White and Miss Beulah Walker, duettists; Miss Rose Hartwig, soprano; and Mr. William Walker, bass; and all received rounds of applause on each occasion of their appearance. This was the first appearance of Mr. Walker on the concert platform and he shows every indication of becoming a real artist.

A delightful item on the evening's program was the first appearance of little Miss Picken in a dance number accompanied by Miss Scoby, both young artists who were exceptionally well received.

The latter part of the program was taken over by the Vulcan Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Mr. John Hunter, and was ably assisted by Miss Gladys Rhodes, Champion violinist; and Mr. Brownbill, Vulcan, banjoist of the Tomte orchestra. This aggregation added color to the proceedings. Rev. V. E. Smith, Miss Mabel McPherson and Miss Beulah Walker were the accompanists.

Mayor Butchart presided. The singing of the National Anthem brought a most enjoyable evening to a close.

COMMUNICATION

Editor, Vulcan Advocate
Vulcan, Alberta.

Dear Sir:

I would appreciate your printing this letter of appreciation for me.

It is very gratifying in times like these, to find so many ladies of the hospital district, co-operating so wholeheartedly with the institution.

A movement was put on foot to help us keep our babies from feeling the present condition too keenly, and as the only way they could be aware of it was, in the condition of the clothing we put upon them. Were they a little older, I fear we would have had open rebellion, as you who are parents must know the attitude children take when urged to wear clothing with a look of "hard times."

Our babies have been wearing their little garments for three years, and I know that mothers will realize that with constant wear and washing, they are bound to disintegrate. However like the radio announces would say "Good News." A number of the ladies organizations have made a collection in their communities, and with the results we are prepared to fit our new-comers out, in real Alberta style. Up to the time of going to press we have received the sum of $28.50 and in addition a Social Club bought material and are making dresses.

The following organizations have contributed: St. Women's Catholic League of Vulcan; Jr. Catholic League of Vulcan; Church of Christ Ladies' Sewing Club; Union Jack; Snake Creek; Redlandview; Kirkcaldy; Eastway Social Club and Taigh Hill Community.

As superintendent of your hospital, I am very grateful to you for your help and appreciate the keen spirit of fellowship that prompted the undertaking.

Thanking you in anticipation, I am Sincerely yours,
(Miss) M. McLEOD,
Supt. Vulcan Municipal Hospital.

ARMAMENT REDUCTIONS

Reduce Estimates Cheering to British People; U.S. Figures Presented

Within the last few days the estimates for the armed forces of Britain and of the United States have been placed before their respective parliamentary bodies. In the United Kingdom drastic cuts have been made. The total expenditure has been reduced by something like $21,000,000, of which roughly $15,000,000 is off the figures for the army. The air force has been cut only four per cent. These are substantial reductions and follow similar deductions made in recent years. The reductions are likely to be readily accepted by the people of Britain. Economics effected last year in all branches of government expenditure seem to have been turned to good use. At any rate whether it is by reason of such economies or for other reasons, Britain seems to have got its feet on the upward path and is quickly progressing towards a measure of prosperity. And that fact will make the expenditure cuts more acceptable to the British people than they would otherwise be.

In the United States the estimates for national defense call for an expenditure of $644,651,309 and the total expenditure on liquidating the cost of the last war and maintaining the army, navy and air force amounts to $2,884,240,051 or 71.88 per cent. of the total budget. This figure includes $640,000,000 for war debt retirement; $1,052,785,264 for pensions and veterans' hospitals. These figures reveal just how costly war is, either in preparations or in paying for the last one.—Saskatoon Star Phoenix.

"Resurrection Song" Vulcan United Church

Easter, the greatest and holiest season of the year was worthily recognized at the United Church last Sunday by special services both morning and evening.

Choral and solo work in addition to hymns of rejoicing abounded in the church program. There was a capacity house at the morning service and the anthems by the junior choir under the direction of Mrs. A.E. White were in keeping with the spirit of the day and most beautifully rendered.

A short address by Rev. J. N. Brunton on "The Man Who Was Absent at the First Easter Service," and a solo by Mrs. White "Open the Gates of the Temple," made an appropriate ending to a happy and uplifting service.

A special feature of the evening service was the presentation of an Easter cantata "The Resurrection Song" by the senior choir, assisted by a four piece orchestra.

The audience filled every available space of the auditorium, and the orchestra and splendid choir of thirty-five voices under the direction of Mr. R. H. Weale were at their best in every section, and rendered the "Resurrection Song" with splendid effect and keen interpretation to a large and appreciative congregation.

Marion Irene, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Black was baptised at the morning service.

"Chewing" is not so popular in Canada as was once the case. While the Dominion's cigarette output increased from less than 3,000,000 in 1929 to over 5,000,000,000 in 1930, the manufacture of chewing tobacco dropped from 6,640,000 pounds to 4,287,000 pounds in the same period. And the manufacture of snuff increased from 711,000 pounds to 1,108,000 pounds. A tenth of a pound of snuff per person—where does it all go?

District Old Timer is Laid to Rest

Wednesday afternoon, a funeral service was held in the United Church for the late Mr. Isaac Bennett, whose demise was recorded in our issue of last week.

IDEAL TYPE OF BACON HOG

The standard length of the ideal Wiltshire is 30 inches from round bone to front edge of first rib. The hog should be of uniform depth with trim, straight underline. The head should be of medium length with a slightly dished face, broad forehead, and rather small, firmly attached erect ears, fringed with fine hair. The neck is well muscled with no tendency to arch on top. The jaw should be trim but not heavy and flabby or coarse. Smooth, compact shoulders are essential and this requirement is easily understood when the relative price of shoulder meat is compared with other cuts of the carcass. The back should be slightly arched from neck to tail with a well-sprung rib dropping straight, giving a smooth, even side blending with shoulder and hind quarters.

Well-finished hogs are of medium width throughout, indicating a full deep loin and a long well-developed rump. Ideal finish gives a carcass that cuts out with 1 1/4 inches to 1 1/2 inches of fat evenly distributed along the back. The ham is described as smooth and tapering, having no excess bulges of fat, as such necessitates more trimming.

The bacon hog is a stretchy, smooth quality animal possessing tariff and excellent feeding qualities, and, when finished to an average weight of 200 pounds, exhibits an ideal carcass when slaughtered.

An interesting feature of Rotary the other evening, in connection with the presentation of flags from other nations, was a knowledge contest. Each member submitted a list of the nations, was a knowledge contest, on the pedestal and Harold Jenkins was top man.

CALL TO YOUTH

Does the world need the aggressiveness and daring of youth, in this present crisis, more than the judgment and caution of old age? That is a question that has concerned people greatly in the past year, and it has been given voice by the vigorous words of the Prince of Wales, in a recent address to the youth of England. He challenges them to go about setting things right, in words unmistakable, brave and inspiring. In the opinion of James Douglas, editorial writer of the Sunday Express, there never was a nobler message, to illumine the soul of youth with the light of leadership. The Prince is quoted as saying:

"Many paths in life are closed to me; much that I would like to do I cannot. But I have tried to bring more closely together the people of the Empire, the English-speaking people, and to further our interests abroad. I have had my failures, I know; but, in these years, with few precedents to guide us, to have no failure is to have attempted nothing."

"It was not your fault that there was a war. It is not your fault that there is now a world crisis. But do not congratulate yourselves because in these things you are blameless. Better to realize that you alone are the ones to repair wrongs, to do those things that have been left undone."

James Douglas continues: "Thus the Prince harnesses anger to action, buckles revolt to redemption. He calls in a new generation to redress the errors of the old. He warns it that it must not remain a spectator. The grim fact must be faced that the younger generation will not bear its martyrdom if the older generation refuses to abdicate."

"The younger generation in Europe is wrestling the reins from the palsied hands of government. Youth created the National Government, but it sees the old placemen in their old places, mutually paralyzed by the old party paralysis. There is no room for the younger generation, with its bold and original vision, its disbelief in formulas and fear of phrases."

"Youth is patient, but youth cannot long remain a spectator. Only a short time before the work of governments is placed on its strong, young shoulders. It has vainly striven to invigorate those who may be older in years and experience. But it is discovering that it cannot put new wine in old wineskins or new thoughts in old minds or new energy in old sinews. Youth's time has come."

A GLORIOUS STEP

Walter Runciman says: "Absolute free trade within the Empire would be one of the most glorious steps in British history. One thing the Ottawa Conference will do, it will draw attention to the fact that the Colonies can produce everything that Britain needs."

The Montreal Witness coins a new word to describe this Empire. It is Brit 'Can' Aust' Afr' Ind' and Co. Free trade through this immense territory of diversified resources would knit the Empire as nothing else would do, and would demonstrate what might further be done in a world policy. There would be necessary concessions in plenty, a yielding here and there on the part of every unit of Empire. But a steady and uninterrupted current of trade which would swing round the world of Empire dominions would be a powerful stimulant.

Such an experiment would outline the policy which carried the United States as one into an era of prosperity and wealth. If United States had within her area, a dozen frontiers, a dozen tariff barriers; if New England barred the products of the Middle West and the Middle West barred the manufactures of New England, it is extremely doubtful if United States of America would now be the great world power that it is. It has enjoyed the greatest known advantages in free trade amongst its States, and has surrounded all with a cliff-like tariff. If Great Britain, Canada, Australia, India and Brit. Africa could unite in a policy which would allow the untrammelled current of trade, it might bring a revival of life and commerce that would be the definite and permanent cure of present stagnation and difficulty.

WEED INSPECTORS

In these times when municipalities are seeking all avenues to reduce services, a number of Councils through the province are looking frowningly upon weed inspectors and wondering if they could not be depended upon to keep their own farms cleaned, and also arrange that roadways be kept clear. They lean to the opinion that since it is greatly in their own interest to keep down weeds, they could eliminate inspectors.

However a clear warning is issued in the Act covering any such action, or lack of action. If a municipal district fail to appoint inspectors, the Minister of Agriculture may do so, but the salaries and the expenses of the officials would be paid from municipal funds. If a district appoints incompetent officials, the minister may dismiss them and name qualified inspectors to act in their place. The Minister of Agriculture is fully empowered to carry out this act, and to see that sufficient inspectors are appointed.

What arrangement exists between the Dept. of Agriculture and Dept. of Public Works, in the clean-up of all weeds, is not so clear. The weeds on the roadway may be regarded as a duty of the Dept. of Public Works, and it is quite as essential that weeds be eliminated from roadways as from farms. Any neglect of either, nullifies the work of the other. Whether there is any duplication of service in this respect, or whether inspectors operate under both departments is a matter on which municipal districts are no doubt clear.

In the question of appeals, if any person thinks he has suffered injustice at the hands of a municipal inspector, or does not get results from an appeal to his municipal council, he may appeal further to the field crops commissioner whose decision is final.

The matter of weed reduction has become a major work in the agricultural field, and it is a work that should progress with utmost harmony and with a minimum of red tape and delay in reaching the controlling departments.

NO BREACH OF FAITH

A delightful touch of humor was furnished the Assembly during the debate on the indemnity reduction, which F. J. White, Labor M.L.A. for Calgary got off the hot one that if he accepted a smaller indemnity he would be breaking faith with his electors, who had hired him to do a certain job at a specified price. This form of argument placed Mr. White instantly among the world's great humorists, like Mr. Dooley, or Amos 'n' Andy.

The solemn assurance may be given Mr. White that it has never been regarded as a grievance in this world to secure something at a price less than anticipated. His electors will hold no mass meetings demanding that he get the full $2,000; on the contrary they are very apt to interpret his demand for it as being somewhat out of place these days.

And what about the breach of faith over ten years ago when the members of the legislature boosted their own indemnities to the $2,000 mark? There was a real breach of faith and the fact that it occurred under a liberal government did not improve it a bit.

The Observer protested against it at the time and we expected that when the U.F.A. government came into power, prompt measures would be taken to reduce the indemnity to the old figure. But it has taken eleven years to get round to it and only partially at that.—Vegreville Observer.

POLICE PROTECTION (From the High River Times)

There has been a persistent rumor in the past few days that the post left vacant by the removal of Constable Ashby A.P.P. to Brooks, will not be filled. Although this rumor has not been confirmed, it rouses apprehension. In the effort toward economy, it is possible that such a step might be contemplated by the government, but it is a step which would be strongly protested by this district. There has been serious disappointment that it has been considered advisable to move Constable Ashby to another point. His work has not been spectacular, but perhaps for that very reason has in many instances been all the more efficient and lasting. The district has enjoyed careful supervision under his regime, and his immediate accessibility has given general security.

There would be no such feeling of security, if he were not immediately replaced with another government officer. There is a large territory served by the police stationed at High River, and he has few idle hours. He is on call day or night, and it would no doubt surprise citizens to realize how many demands are made on him, how many times his intervention has saved more serious trouble, and the very fact of his presence has acted as a deterrent to crime.

Three instances of robbery have occurred out in the country within the past few days—that is to say, three robberies about which we have heard. There may have been others. At any rate, instant action was required in these cases, to bring results. The likelihood is that violations of the law would be multiplied many fold if it became known that the district was without resident police protection.

It is doubtful if High River district would have experienced its freedom from major crime, if it had not been well policed during the past years. It has not been a healthy area for lawbreakers, and has been fairly consistently avoided. The value of maintaining this service can scarcely be estimated.

After all, the citizens of this district are relatively heavy taxpayers. They are entitled to R.C.M.P. protection, and it is hoped that there is no contemplated economy in this direction.

BASELESS SCANDAL

It is rarely that the press speaks with one voice. But from coast to coast, Mr. Luchkovitch, M.P., has been reproved by newspaper editors for his unsubstantial charges in Parliament regarding the Sun Life and North American Life. It is not that any reasonable attack is frowned upon, but that Mr. Luchkovitch should have rushed in to stir up doubts, on such insufficient and ill-prepared evidence. In fact, instead of consulting the annual reports of the Superintendent of Insurance, to establish his basis of attack, he ignored these apparently in favor of a journal which has specialized in attack on the Sun Life over a period of years. He might have saved himself much criticism, by checking the charges, against the authoritative documents in the department, to which he had free access.

As it is, his rash and unconsidered attack has re-acted against himself and has brought reproach from almost every source. But unfortunately it has stirred up uncertainty against insurance companies, which are the secure and most reliable protection which citizens have.

One of the allegations on which Mr. Luchkovitch founded his charges apparently was "The amount of common and preferred stocks of these two companies (Sun Life and North American Life) aggregates over $332,000,000 and at their present market value, they show a loss of $200,000,000." From the government insurance reports for 1930, it is shown that the North American Life's total stock holding of $5,878,440 had a market value of $6,046,489, or 102.9 per cent. of their book value. At the end of 1931 total stock holdings were $4,649,994, with a market value of $4,634,241 or 99.6 per cent. of the book value. If these figures are correct, the statement which selects the Sun Life and North American Life as having shared in great stock losses, is scarcely warranted. These are the matters that Mr. Luchkovitch should have verified, before attacking.

The Insurance Act provides a very strict check on the operations of insurance companies and controls very closely the nature of their investments. It is a department most carefully supervised because insurance is the sole resource of so many Canadian people. In the words of men of all party and profession "the operations of these companies have withstood the severest scrutiny."

It is possibly true that some insurance companies have been affected by the depression, and the Premier favors greater restriction in investments and certain improvements in the Insurance Act. Mr. Luchkovitch would better serve the purpose that he no doubt intends, by encouraging any possible improvement in the Act.

WELCOME BACK

Newspaper offices through the province were brightened this week by the return of the Hanna Herald to circulation. After suspension for four weeks, due to the destruction of the plant by fire, the Herald has been rebuilt, re-equipped and once more the presses are rolling. This has been quick work on the part of builders and all congratulated.

cerned, and back of it all was the evident desire that the Herald office should be returned to action as speedily as possible.

The four weeks lapse, now happily ended, has been the first break in twenty years of publication by H.G. McCrea. Bert Hoffman voices the thoughts of all good friends of Mr. McCrea and his splendid paper when he says: "The coming back of that old time counsellor, the Herald, at this early date testifies to the undying qualities of its spirit. Its weekly messages have been cheering in adversity, sound in prosperity, gentle in sorrow and fair in love and war. It is an inseparable part of the spiritual and social life of the community. I sincerely hope the Hanna district gives Mr. McCrea the deep and lasting support which his unquenchable spirit deserves."

A FEW ROOTS FOR FALL FEEDING

While root crops are not grown extensively in the West owing to the cost of growing, storing and handling they may be used to supplement fodder without much labor. They are valuable feed for the fall, when the pastures are searing, and make a gradual change from summer succulence to winter fodder.

For hogs, a few rows of mangels and sugar beets may be sown near the corrals, so that they may be pulled as needed. Mangels should be used first, as they are the soonest injured by frost.

Mangels and rutabagas grow fast and yield well, and may be grown on moist ground in the shelter of a bluff or wind break. They are nutritious and appetizing, and when threatened, the remainder may be pitted as a winter tit bit for good stock.

Plan this spring for a few rows of roots to be fed next fall.

FARMERS MAKE THEIR OWN MONEY

"If the banks won't lend you any money, make your own money" farmer co-operators at Leroy, Saskatchewan, say. Last summer they had a cheese factory which had run several years ago, but closed down when the price of wheat was high and farmers stopped milking cows.

They wanted to reopen and buy milk to make cheese, but cheese is a commodity that it not immediately ready for sale. It must mature for several weeks.

Unable to borrow money from the banks on the security of their cheese, they printed coupons, paying 50 cents per 100 pounds of milk, with promise of redemption when the cheese was sold. As the cheese was sold these coupons were redeemed and these farmer-financiers were able to pay themselves an interim dividend of 30 cents and a final payment of 17.9 cents per hundred that the farmers got for their milk.

RAYMOND SCRIP WORKING WELL

System Adopted in Southern Town Has So Far Been Successful

In the town of Raymond it was agreed between Council and employees that 60 per cent. of their salaries should be paid in cash and 40 per cent. in the town draft.

In employing temporary help it has been the effort to hire men who either are taxpayers in arrears or ratepayers liable for 1932 and these are paid for their services in warrants or drafts.

"It thus saves finding money with which to pay our help, and as the only place that the warrants or drafts are payable is at the town office, it must eventually be returned to us, which will, we anticipate, aid us in applying it on taxes, except in a few isolated cases.

"From our observations, we will be able to purchase all of our town supplies from the merchants for the same kind of warrant, and the amount thus accumulated will be paid into the town on business taxes, etc., thus making it possible for the merchants to handle it the same as cash.

"There are two kinds issued—negotiable, and non-negotiable, the first named will be paid where a person has more due him for services rendered than he owes the town. The second will be issued to those who owe the town for taxes or water for household use.

"The first issue was on February 12, and up to date, we have paid out $1887.80 in this form of drafts or warrants. Of this sum, there is less than $225 that is outstanding. The draft is treated the same as a cheque. When it is returned to us, and a receipt for taxes issued for it, it is then cancelled. It goes no further. These drafts or warrants will be issued just as we issue a cheque in payment of an account. When it is returned, it is cancelled as the bank cancels a cheque, and in that way it is easy to know just how much is outstanding at the end of each month."

KITCHENER HEADS FEAST TOO WELL

City Councillors in Ontario Decide Not to Present Feed Bill as Legitimate Expense

City clerk of Kitchener received a threat that the city hall would be blown up unless municipal salaries were cut and taxes lowered. Irrespective of the threat, the Council passed the bylaw setting a higher tax rate for 1932 at 41 mills. But the Councillors were just a little bit frightened, because they ruled out an account of $20.50 rendered by a restaurant for the lunch that was served them after midnight on two nights last week, when Council recessed from its rate-striking labors. The aldermen contributed two dollars each to make up the account. A bill for $5.25 rendered by the Mayor for cigars purchased for the entertainment of visitors at the Mayor's office also was struck off the accounts.

NEWS OF INTEREST

The following section has been added to the Public Health Regulations: "107, whenever any physician ascertains, or has reason to suspect that any person whom he examines is from cancer, he shall within 48 hours give notice thereof in writing to Provincial Board according to schedule L."

Editor Duncan, in the Wiaraton Echo, tells of a man in Delray, where he is wintering, having received a letter, telling him that his wife would be kidnapped unless he placed $5000 in a certain place at a given time. Instead of complying he wrote the following letter and placed it on the spot where he was supposed to put the money: "Dear Sirs:—I rather like your proposition. It appeals to me, but I haven't got the money and I can't raise it."

TO CONTROL C N R DISBURSEMENTS

Document Prepared to Show How National Railway Can Cut Down

Stressing first economies already made, a parliamentary committee suggested further possible savings in C.N.R. operation. A total saving of $28,106,681 will be shown in 1931 and '32 operation.

The Canadian National Railway has inaugurated a system for controlling travelling, hotel and other expenses of its officials which constitute a check on these disbursements. Salary cuts and lay-offs arranged for in the interests of economy will effect a saving of approximately $2,500,000 a year.

A resolution providing a life annuity to Sir Henry Thornton, president, of $10,000 if at any time he should retire from active management of the railway, has been rescinded. Payment of fees to officials of the Canadian National by subsidiary companies have been discontinued.

The foregoing are the high spots of a document which was laid before the parliamentary committee on railways and shipping today by R. B. Hanson (Cons., York-Sunbury), chairman. Signed by seven members of the board of directors of the Canadian National, it is in the nature of a reply to recommendations for economy made by the committee on railways and shipping at the last session of parliament.

The parliamentary committee recommended a review of all salaries of officials of the system above $5000. It condemned charging up large amounts for social entertainment to the road, and it objected to the provision of a retiring allowance for Sir Henry Thornton.

AS FOREIGNER SEES HOCKEY

Hockey, as an outstanding game, is a combination of football, golf, soccer, prize-fighting and tug-of-war. It is a crime wave on ice.

If one man dashes into another on a slippery street, knocks him down and bashes him between the eyes with a crooked stick, it is unpunished assault. This, done in a rink is what is called first-class hockey.

Sporting enthusiasts who like their thrills served fresh every second and who consider any sport dull when any of the contestants are in an upright position have found what they ordered. Here, at last, is a game played while every contestants is in the act of falling through space.

It makes baseball seem like a casual exercise prescribed by the doctor for old gentlemen with stiff joints. Beside it football looks like something thrown into the nursery to keep the children out of mischief.

It is played between two teams of six men each, none of whom care a single thing about his physical future.

A small black rubber heel is what the battle is over, the aim of each team being to deliver it into a cage, guarded by a youth whose people evidently never gave him any good advice.

When it is time for a hockey game to commence, the referee skates to the centre of the ice and rings a bell. This is a signal to all physicians, nurses and internes to get ready for business. He then drops the rubber heel and tees for his life. The heel is then battled for by the opposing teams on the basis of an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth and a broken nose for a try at the goal cage. During the carnage the busiest individual in the place is the goal tender, who has to stop more missiles than the City of Rheims stopped German snells.

After the end of the final period, surgeons examine the goal tenders, the game being awarded to the side whose goal tender has the best chance of recovery.—Exchange.

SALARIES IN DAIRY PRODUCTS

The official Liberal critic of Ontario presents these figures to show what salaries are in terms of farm earnings:

In 1926 one carload butter paid salary Prime Minister and sessional allowance.

In 1924, the first year the Hon. Mr. Ferguson was Premier, it required 1½ carloads butter at creamery prices to pay his salary.

In 1931 the present Premier required almost four carloads of butter, nearly three times the amount required to pay Hon. G. H. Ferguson in his first year.

In 1929, 4,828 cans of milk of 100 lbs. each for Premier's salary, about 13 cans per day.

Today over 11,000 cans required, nearly 30 100-lb. cans per day.

While the dairyman has to sell 1,200 quarts of milk per day to pay the Premier's salary at the price of the company with which the Premier is identified pays.

The laborer in the city, by working eight hours, earns enough to buy 48 quarts and it is proposed to reduce this to 40 quarts.

One and a half tons (3,000 lbs.) per day for the Premier, 120 lbs. per day for the workers, or, at the average paid by cheese factories in 1931 over 6,200 lbs. of milk per day for the Premier's salary.

ONE GRAND FARM MAYBE YOUR OWN

A discontented farmer wished, if possible, to trade his farm for a more desirable one, and accordingly listed it with a real estate agency. A few days afterward he read in a newspaper the advertisement of it prepared by the agency. It described in glowing terms the many charms, comforts, conveniences and advantages of the place. Three times the old farmer read it to him. Then he seized the telephone and called up the real estate office. "Say, cancel that ad about my farm," he shouted. "I've decided not to sell it. That's the kind of place I've been wanting for years, and dog my cats, I didn't know I had it."

If many of us could see our jobs and our lives and our possessions as others see them, like the farmer, we shouldn't be so "all-fired" anxious to "swap" them for something we fancy would be better.—Chilliwack Progress

Vegreville finds itself using 32,000 gallons of water per day when normal use should be 11,000 gallons. Every possible check-up has been taken and a detector from Edmonton is making progress.

GREAT TRIBUTE PAID TO A P P

His Lordship, Chief Justice Simons is another of the numerous judicial heads to speak of the splendid service of the Alberta Provincial Police which passes out of existence on April 1.

"In my view efficiency, honesty and fairness are the three great qualities that characterize a police force, and I put the second and third qualities in an equally as important place as the first.

"One of the great assets that a criminal lawyer has is the successful creation of an atmosphere before a jury that defendant has not been treated fairly by the police, but this cannot be said of the Alberta Provincial Police. It is a source of satisfaction that most of the officers will be absorbed by the Dominion police."

In cases of emergency, units of the army or militia may be called upon to assist the police in restoring or maintaining law and order. In the text books this is called "Aid to the Civil Power." Over in the United States, Al Capone offered to act in that capacity, but as he was not free to act, another captain of the racketeering industry was selected to aid the civil power, or take its place. He will succeed if he can because the search for the Lindbergh baby is seriously interfering with the activities of rum-runners.

"Gold is not money—gold is a measure," says Winston Churchill. The gold that is stored in Washington and Paris is not being used, as a rule.

A man born in New York is now premier of the Irish Free State, thus reversing the usual process under which men born in Ireland emigrated to the United States and soon became aldermen, mayors, congressmen and senators, their foreign birth alone barring them from the presidency. Max O'Rell said the Irish governed every country but their own, and an unknown poet sang their speedy success in the following strain:
"There came to our shores a poor

The dew on his mantle was heavy and chill,
Ere the ship he arrived in was quite out of hearin'
He was Alderman Mike introducing

HE PROPHECIES COMING WEATHER

Not an Old Timer Yet Has No Hesitation in Predicting Wet Season

A Cardston man, waxing peevish over the vague predictions which appear in the weather forecasts. He makes his complaint to the Lethbridge Herald and gives them a full-bodied prediction which he says they can use or discard. They use it for later checking. Here it is:

"If I had been handing out an editorial re moisture for 1932, this is somewhat how it would run—I am not a weather prophet nor what would be termed an Old Timer yet have been here in the west since 1911. Will say that for 1932 there will be plenty of rain for all crops generally (I am speaking of Southern Alberta). There will be rains each month of the growing season, more than we have had, by double the amount, for the past two years. There will be lots of rain in early June (if you don't care to publish this you can hang it up where you can check up on it later).

"There will be a good wheat crop year this time for the man who has his ground clean of weeds and thistles, who has kept his summerfallow black in 1931. But he must plant between April 5 and 20 to obtain the greatest yield, and free from frosts. Frosts this year will be earlier than last. The potato crop must be planted between May 19 and 26 to yield most. You will have to step on it this time—waste no time. Summer will begin with a bang—no spring to speak of."

TO MAKE TAXES MORE POPULAR

Same Types of Taxes Would Go Over in a Large Way; More Suggestions Welcomed

All provinces are seeking frantically to discover something new to tax which may be reasonably approved. The Sault Ste Marie Star offers very helpful hints:

- Atmosphere tax graded as to age of taxpayer.

- Permanent waves on male, 2 cents per square inch.

- Ice cream cone tax, a cent.

- After dinner speeches, $1.00

- Spats, colored, $2.00.

- Red neckties, 25 cents.

- Walking sticks, a nickel.

- Smoking room stories, 15c to 30c.

- Salvation, ad valorem, graded from editors up to crooners. Application from tax collectors not to be considered.

- Road hogs, everything they have left.

- Cabinet ministers, 25 per cent.

- Lumberjacks, free

- Fish stories, according to the verdict of the audience.

- Sponge cake, so much per pound.

- Weather prophets, financial seers, college professors, bootleggers, bridge players and radio entertainers. Let their conscience be their guide.

CASE STUDIED ATTORNEY GENERAL

On the charge of having in his possession gasoline upon which the gasoline tax had not been paid, to which he pleaded guilty, Ed. Anderson, was at Claresholm, fined $100 and costs, or in default of payment by April 13, 30 days. On his behalf representations were made to the court, by J. H. Davidson that the gasoline in question was only loaned by him to Anderson and that he had no doubt that Anderson meant to return it in due course, that the offence was only technical, and that the fine was excessive. The magistrate decided to bring the matter to the notice of the attorney-general.

In connection with the charge against Anderson, J. H. Davidson was fined $10 and costs for, at Turner Valley, making a false statement for a refund of gasoline tax. On the same charge W. O. Hart was fined $10 and costs.

At Fernie, B.C. since March 15, the government office has been issuing car licenses allowing the usual 25 per cent. discount.
